Our Starting Point Is English . . .

We've come a long way from our weak
English of yesterday.
Through verbs and adjectives we've plowed our way.
At times we are tense
When our papers don't make sense
And are returned with Scarlet letters
Telling us how they can be better.
Book reports, poetry and plays all played their role
And on our grades, they took their toll.
We worked and perspired as we waited for report card day
But our hard work paid off and just rewards came our way.
Vocabulary books came into the scene
With them we've learned what a lot of words mean.
As we come to the end we all give a sigh
And to another year of English we now say bood-bye.

Pete Mongiello and Rich Krop await their daily ration of bread, water and Shakespeare.

Judy Lassiter meditates through her English.

Joanne Ellenberger sits mesmerized as she listens to Mr. Hartman advise on paragraphs.

If You Look Behind You Will See History . . .

Mr. Fox tries to figure out what city Lou Markos and Mike Funk are building.

Ruth Steinberg tells Miss Duke, "Putting up this poster is not easy, I wish we had more hands." Sandy Horn and Patricia Yee agree.

Mrs. Mason points out the only place George Washington didn't sleep.

As we chartered our way through the streaming words of the history books we uncovered many unfound treasures. We discovered the Revolution, the Boston Tea Party and Manifest Destiny. We mapped our way through tests, quizzes and researched many term papers. At all times we accepted our grades diplomatically although sometimes crying was more appropriate. We'll always remember carrying home the American Pageant book to study from. Also notoriously known as Bailey to us, the veterans of American History. We studied for tests prepared by our strategically minded teachers and we may have lost some battles but alas . . . we won the war. Now we can look back and smile thinking of all we learned, and also knowing that it's just a thing of the past . . . it's history!

Don't Blink or You'll Miss Math . . .

In addition to the many other departments in school, there is Mathematics. We have multiplied our fun by learning to tackle all those numbers, variables and brain teasers. The Math faculty is responsible for teaching us the maximum amount of theorems, corollaries and postulates in just a fraction of the time it used to take.

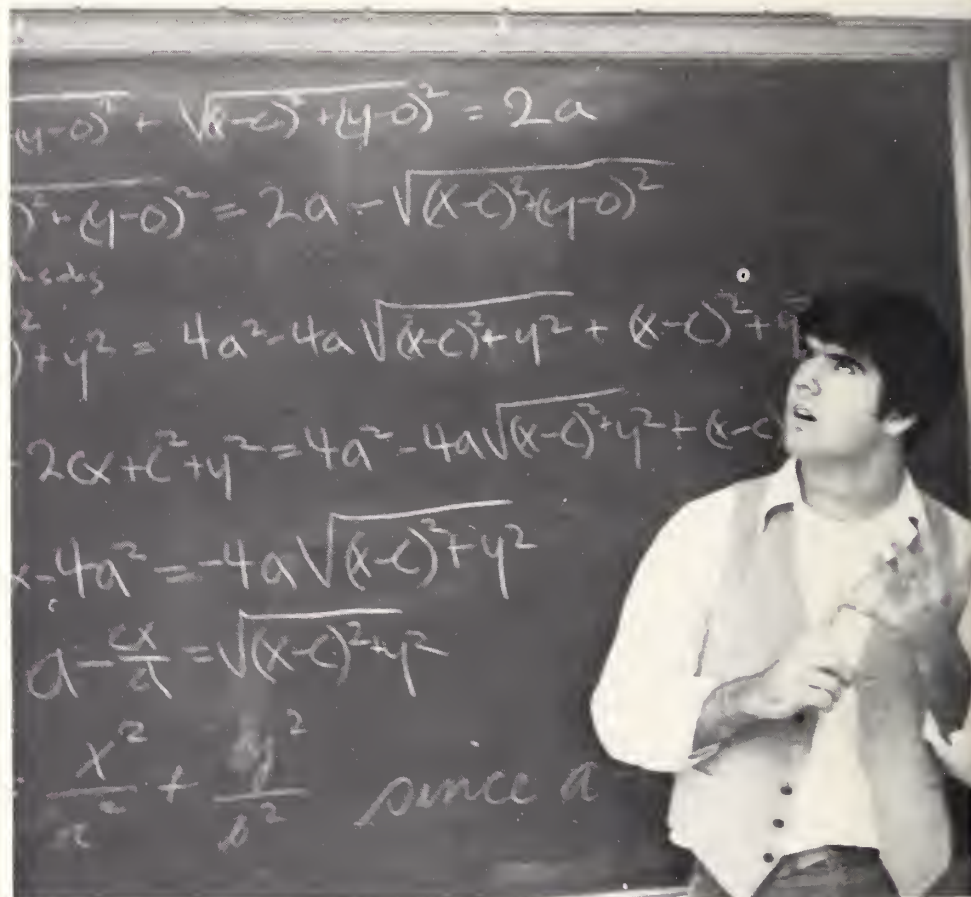

But let's get right to the point. The Math teachers have made Math lots of fun and we've learned to compute the toughest problems. We can solve anything from a simple linear equation, to the derivative of a tangent to a circle. If you think it sounds confusing you should've been there while we were learning it. We then divided through our books, added time to our studies and received help from our teachers. Our confusion was then limited and we acquired a low percentage error.

Fran Clemson in protractor land. Alice eat your heart out.

Mr. Van Hart gets an asterisk in arts and crafts.

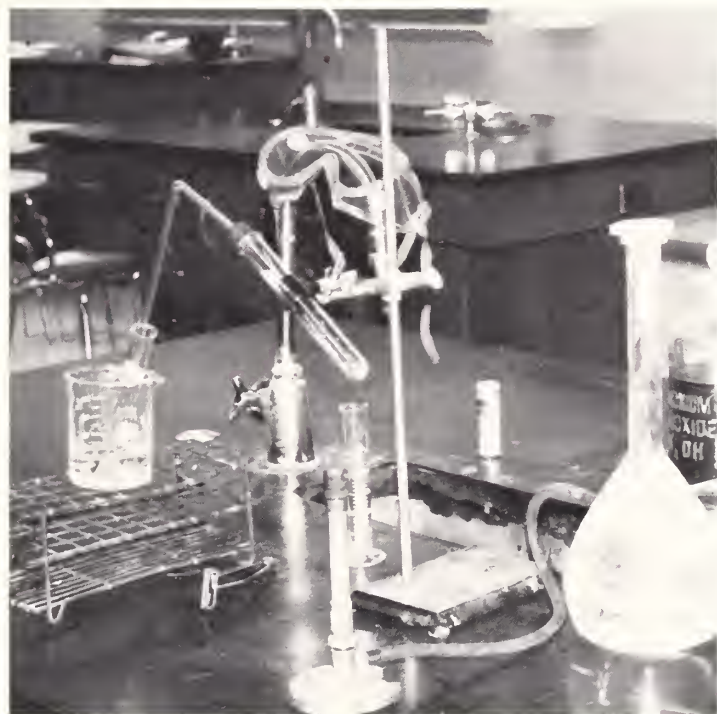

Robert Dooley says, "Even Einstein started out on his fingers."

Please Stay in Your Seats, We Are Approaching Science . . .

... How he got in my pajamas I'll never know?" says Mr. Marionni.

Mad scientist out to lunch —

A pair of goggles?

Our hypothesis is that, because we had the right chemistry between teachers and students, our Science Classes were interesting and enjoyable. We dissected the facts and picked out what was important. All the forces were equally balanced to create a fun science department. We experimented with different types of Science from frogs to flowers, but our greatest scientific discovery had to be when we found that oil and water don't mix. We have come to the conclusion that our hypothesis was correct; all the necessary elements for a good Science Department were present.

Kren Teltser says, "Do I have to touch this Mr. Danillo?" as Matt Kuperstein observes.

Before Turning Right We Can See Business . . .

Jack Mendell and Rose Herkalo rejoice as the adding machine regurgitates the profits they'll reap.

"Are we really on candid camera?" says Cindy Klein as Janice Hudak laughs in disbelief.

Our great entrepreneurs (teachers) help us to account for our tremendous assets in the business world. During the fiscal period 77-81 they have decreased our liabilities by increasing our net knowledge.

We've learned a great deal from our business teachers. Thanks to our elite typing teachers we are able to type quickly with few missteaks. We will think of them each time we struggle through a paper. Passing notes has become much easier due to our skills in shorthand. (It nw tks hlf the tm to wrt twc as mch). We will always remember our business courses when checks stop bouncing because we can finally balance a checkbook.

When Janice Borchert and Steven Warner talk people listen.

We Are Now Passing Foreign Language . . .

re Mary Esemplare and Gregg O'Neill really smiling about their foreign language . . . or is it something se?

Bonjour Mi Amigo,

I want to tell you about the foreign language department in my school. In class, we learn about lifestyles and cultures which are different from our own. There are so many languages to study too! There are French, Spanish, German, Latin, Hebrew, and Italian. Our studies extend beyond the classroom. We go to museums, rock concerts, and restaurants which give us a fuller flavor of the language we are studying. As a finale for the year, there are trips offered to Europe and the country about which we have studied. Ya, mi amiche the foreign language department really is great here at J.D. I wish you could come for a visit and see but I know it is impossible.

Shalom,
Rufus

David Barison says "I could have sworn I saw Acapulco there yesterday" to Mrs. Sikorski.

Jay Soled alias Mark Antony.

A Mile North From Here Is Industrial Arts . . .

Roger Perlstein gets right to the point.

"Whistle while you work" is Frank Colatruglio's motto.

Leesa Bernstein and Laurie Tennaro, "Don't you know there is a water shortage?"

Is Theresa Defino secretly drawing pictures of Mickey Mouse?

What do we get when we mix a semester of Metal Shop with a period of Graphic Arts and nine weeks of Family Living? The result is a well-rounded Industrial Arts student. Who could forget all the times in Photography class that the door of the dark room was opened spoiling an entire roll of film? Or when, in woodshop, we got more brown stain on ourselves than on our shelves? The feelings of success will always be remembered too! The first mechanical drawing completed, the first chiffon that didn't fall, and the first clothes we ever finished making will be among the fondest of memories.

Karen Andrus, "We now make jeans for big girls, they hug your waist, your hips, and . . ."

As a Special Treat We Will Go Through Fine Arts . . .

Yeryl Federico teaches Jackie Kelk how to reach those high notes.

Our cast of Fine Arts teachers deserves a standing ovation. With their help we learned to sing a colorful scale and paint a harmonious picture. The Drama, Art, and Music Departments performed many functions. In Art class we learned to make a lump of clay act like a mug or bowl, while in drama class we learned to create old men, villains, or damsels in distress, from high school students. As we progressed through various musical stages we began by dabbling with "Chopsticks," but learned to move to "Beethoven's Fifth." Because of the fine arts department our education is not only composed of academics and sports, but art, music and drama decorate our lives as well.

Pam White advances from finger painting to paint brushes.

Jency Hammel blows her own horn.

Jaci Lasher and Michael Silverman get their art work into perspective.

Back on Course We Are Coming to Physical Education . . .

What is there to remember about physical education? Let us reminisce about gym, health, and driver education. Try to recall the last time we pleaded with our gym teacher that we were virtually crippled, so we wouldn't have to participate in gym. In reality, we were just unprepared. How about in health when we were so glad in C.P.R. that resuscitation Annie was only a rubber dummy? If she were a real person with a cardiac arrest, she would have been dead a long time ago. And we can't forget Driver Education when we mixed up the gas pedal and the brake and zoomed down the parking lot at 60 m.p.h. We can laugh now about Physical Education. Don't ask me why, but we still have our health.

Is Mrs. Hooper's seat belt too tight or does she wonder why she ever took this job?

Mr. Rettenberg in vain tries to convince Rhonda Greenblatt that Resuscitation Annie won't bite.

Zenon Christodoulou tells Mark Yoss and Leon Liem that tomorrow he'll teach them swan lake.

We've Reached Our Destination Special Services . . .

Anna Alberti stands stunned at the opportunities at Moravian College.

Agent 99 scans the IMC in planning for his latest spy plot.

s. Laustsen and Yael Rubenko take time out from counseling to "sing . . . sing a song."

Look under "A" for assistance and we find the guidance office, health office, attendance office and the library staff! These offices suit a large variety of needs ranging from aid in finding a book, to early release, to finding the college of our choice. And of course, we can't forget all the times we were "sick" as a big test approached, or how Mrs. Baber was on all those senior cut days!

The senior class will always remember these special offices, and the attention that we have received from them. Of course, we were disappointed the first time that our guidance counselor told us, "No, you can't have six study halls" as we made up our senior schedules. Now that our college and job applications are behind us, we can laugh about those hectic days before the deadlines when we made our second homes in these offices. After all their help, we made it through another year.

A message from Miss Romano

During the time you have spent at Dayton you have been seeking to achieve and succeed in many ways. I feel certain that in this search you have learned that "true" success demands more than many of you are willing to offer, but not more than you are capable of offering. In this competitive society in which we live "true" success means achieving a degree of excellence in whatever you pursue. In this pursuit there are certain ingredients necessary -- capability, hard work, endurance, dedication and strength of character.

It is my sincere hope that our school has contributed in some small way to your achieving the degree of excellence you may be seeking.

As you leave us to enter the adult world, I feel confident that you are ready to meet the challenges which await you.

May good luck and good fortune shine upon you.

A Few of Our Favorite Things . . .

Maria Frieri, Debbie Heckel, and Ellie Harbt pose on their favorite Trans Am.

Michael Trapani can't get back into the swing of things the day after a Springsteen concert.

Pable Medeiros and John Klimas model the latest in baseball wear.

What are this year's favorites? The students decided that to cruise through the year in a Corvette or a Trans Am would be the ultimate way to travel. To make the trip even better, the car should have an F.M. radio with the dial set at 95.5, WPLJ, plus a tape deck with plenty of rock 'n' roll tapes, especially Bruce Springsteen and Led Zeppelin. During the week, the students can be found hanging out at Quick Chek, perhaps with a Coke, their favorite soft drink. While just relaxing at home, students enjoy following the continuing saga of "General Hospital," laughing at "M.A.S.H.," or watching "Animal House" for the tenth time on H.B.O. For the early risers on Saturday morning, Bugs Bunny is the favorite of all T.V. cartoon comedians. For the readers, the Sunday paper brings us Ziggy, the hero of our favorite comic strip. While some sports fans enjoy watching weekend football games, others would prefer to watch baseball action with Bucky Dent. A night at the movies watching Clint Eastwood, Burt Reynolds, or Goldie Hawn is always nice. Later, a stop at Burger Express for a midnight snack is enjoyable, since pizza, our favorite junk food, isn't available at such a late hour.

Lookin' Good!

Halloween — was this the day that the students let themselves go and revealed their true personalities? Well, if not their true personalities, at least they showed their creativity. In the hallways one came across different animals, such as a bear, a few apes, and even a bull. Sylvester the Cat and Tweetie Bird, Dracula and the Devil were present at Dayton, as well as Batman and Robin, and Skywalker and Luke Princess Leia to save us from all evil. Some students did their best to imitate some of our own faculty . . . oh, and some of the guys were dressed as women!

Along with the variety of costumes came a variety of sources. Some people quickly scraped together their costumes from things they found at home on the day before Halloween. Others made their own costumes after a lot of thinking and planning, and of course, quite a few students rented costumes, which saved time, but not money.

A new treat on Halloween day was the "Instant Picture Taking" during the lunches. Organized and run by the Yearbook staff, this project was to help raise money for the yearbook, especially to give the students a picture to remember how crazy they looked on Halloween Day, 1980

Mark Jacobs, Stacey Nelson, and Fran Clemson tell Jerry Blabolil he'll never replace the "Unknown Comic."

Lisa Weltchek brings out the beast in Danny Circelli.

Tony Falso, Donna Vargas, Kevin Iaione, Gus Pares, and Matt Smith audition for the new cast of "The Addams Family."

Pete Graziano says to Adam Bain, "Really, Bear, don't you think it's about time you shaved?"

Jody D'Altrui and Julius Asilo do their own version of the "Transylvania Twist."

David Geltman and Don Meixner insist on holding hands on their first date.

David Szymanski and Phil Strobino discuss peace, peanuts, and punk.

Marci Inselberg realizes that working can be fun.

Jill Korey states, "Now when was your appointment?"

"And how badly did you over ring today?", asks John Stein to Donna Vargas.

"Will that be all?", asks Amy Julian.

Donna Alberti and Gloria Yee take turns waiting on customers.

Roger Nevius says, "I may be smiling but, my feet are killing me!"

"Who said working had to be hard?" asks Faye Tasher.

Valery Peterson and Gina Rile work as a team to speed things up a bit.

"How much longer till my break," cries Lisa Salsido.

Cathy Clickenger and her boss try to sell customers a pair of Dr. Dentons.

Many high school students try to make ends meet by getting a part-time job. This is the time to start saving up for that first car, or those exciting weekends, or just for future plans. Soon you realize that the weekly allowance just is not enough anymore. So you get a job, and you realize that working isn't so bad, actually it can be a lot of fun as well as rewarding.

Out to Lunch

Lunchtime is the time for a break between classes to relax and energize yourself to make it through the rest of the day ... or is it? Some Dayton students race to the cafeteria as soon as the lunch bell rings. Others find different ways to enjoy their free half-hour in the middle of the day. Certain students rush outside to get a breath of fresh air and "escape" from the atmosphere of the school for a little while. Whether you're inside or outside, you can always find the gossipers, who gulp down their meals, so that they can discuss the latest news about an ex-boyfriend or a new car, whatever the case may be. The dieters have the toughest time during lunch; they're the ones who stare at everyone else eating while they themselves make the best of the diet soda that they're drinking. Then there's always the students who can be found in the cafeteria doing last night's homework so that they can get their assignment in on time ... Oops, there goes the bell!

Lisa Wallach enjoys her liquid lunch.

A bit confused, Candy Lesofski and Maggie McCabe study their food before eating their books.

The Student Council is one of the oldest groups in Dayton. The club is composed of students that were elected by their fellow classmates. They try to organize dances and fun events for all of Dayton's students, but they are also interested in any complaints the students may have. As this year's President, Steve Warner, explained, "The Student Council acts as a liaison between the students and the faculty. Without this organization the complaints that the students may have, may never be heard or considered by the Board of Education."

This year under the supervision of Mrs. Jean Cusumano, the Council planned many exciting events. They planned the Southern Rock Dance which was held in October. They also hope to have a Spring Carnival which would be the first one Dayton has ever had. The Council believes this carnival along with all their other efforts will be successful.

The Key Club is an organization whose primary objective is to aid the community. The major activity of the club is the monthly Glass-In, where paper and glass is collected for recycling. The Club also participates in various fund raisers such as bowlathon, telathons, the March of Dimes, and donation drives to further the research of many diseases including leukemia, arthritis, diabetes, Huntington's, and multiple sclerosis.

This year the Club has again planned to sponsor a roadrace marathon which offers people a chance to run for exercise as well as raising valuable funds for the Mountainside Children's Hospital. The members are also involved in the restoration of Springfield's monuments and historical areas such as the Cannonball House and the Old Church. All of the Club's activities are geared for a better community.

The Varsity Club honors the athletes who have achieved letters in Varsity Sports. The club's main objective is to raise money for their varsity jackets. Besides raising money, the club offers their services to the community. The club is proud to say there presently are over 100 members.

The club is involved in many fund raisers this year. They sold baseball hats with the school mascot on them. Also, Major League All-Stars play basketball with Dayton's Faculty. The Varsity Club arranges for the All-Star team to come and sell tickets to the game. When the members are not working to raise money they are donating their time to the community. For example, they sponsor a party for the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and donate blood to Overlook Hospital in Summit.

DAYTON JOURNAL

The Dayton Journal is a student publication that provides service and entertainment to the students. With the help of advisor Mrs. Julia Latzer, every aspect of the newspaper is handled by the students. Each student has a specific job that needs to be done in order to cover all aspects of the school. These jobs include the writing of articles, planning of the layout, and collecting of advertisements. The Journal prints four, six, and eight page papers during the school year.

This year the Journal has a new publisher. The publisher has greatly improved the quality of the newspaper, especially in the photographs, the artwork, and the texture of the paper.

Curriculum Editors Debbie Lieb and Sam Kuperstein discuss layouts with Photography Editor Maury Jayson

Regionalogue members have been working frantically since the beginning of the year meeting deadlines, interviewing teachers, planning pages, and trying to think of clever captions for the hundreds of candid pictures in this year's Regionalogue.

You have probably noticed that candid pictures are no longer included in the senior section. This is due to the fact that a great number of students have been complaining that candids rob the senior section of extra space used for signing the books. The staff has made other major changes in the Regionalogue, such as the addition of the new "Underclassmen" and "Student Life" sections. Another change the staff has made is trying to include as many students as possible so the yearbook will be more appealing.

Many of the new ideas were suggested by Mrs. Hedges, the Regionalogue advisor. With her help the yearbook has improved tremendously, and she is greatly appreciated. Special thanks are in order for Mrs. Hedges; we couldn't have done it without her!

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society is an organization sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. It is established to especially honor those students who have demonstrated outstanding ability throughout high school. Students are selected for membership on the basis of four criteria; scholarship, character, leadership and service. Scholarship is determined by a 3.5 or better scholastic average. The qualifications of character, leadership, and service are judged by the faculty.

The French, German, and Spanish National Honor Societies are made up of students who excel in the language they study. To become a member of these National Honor Societies a student must have at least a 3.5 average in the particular language, with a 3.0 average in all other academic subjects.

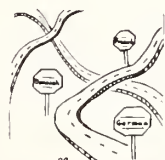

The members of the French National Honor Society also served as officers for the French Club. Under the supervision of Miss Fahrman, they participated in the International Holiday Dinner and raised money with a society sponsored Key chain and notecard sale.

The German Honor Society worked with the German Club. They visited the Garden State Art Center, which was sponsoring a German Heritage Festival in September. They participated in the International Holiday Party and had their own party. The advisor of the Society was Mrs. Salvatore.

The Spanish National Honor Society worked side by side with the Spanish Club and helped out with their fund raisers and activities. The advisor was Mr. Farrell.

French Club

Under the supervision of Miss Carol Fahrman and Mrs. Regina Hostovsky, the French Club has attempted to enrich its members in all aspects of French by several activities. The international dinner acquainted the members with French Cuisine. Also at monthly meetings, games and special events are a very common sight. The Club has sold key chains and stationery to raise money for a real cafe which they planned in the spring. Later on in the year it also planned to have a picnic in the country. The members of the French National Honor Society ran the Club through out the year. These students include Laurie Steinberg, Pat Majcher, Claudine Cohen, Sandie Swanson, and Joe Cohen.

As in the past, the German Club has been busy organizing a full range of activities. The club began the year by participating in the German Heritage Festival at the Garden State Arts Center. There the members were involved in various contests, activities, and a T-shirt sale. Their next activity was the International Dinner which took place in December. On this occasion they served German dishes and sang songs which were appropriate for the holidays. Following this, the group held their own Christmas party which included a variety of games and a buffet. At the end of March, the club had planned a two-night immersion weekend at a camp. This fun-filled weekend included folk dancing, singing, and outdoor activities. The club's final event was their annual dinner held at a German Restaurant. To financially support these events, the German Club and it's advisor, Mrs. Salvatore, were forced to find new sources of fund raisers due to the new ruling on school candy sales. However, as you can see, the members have done a terrific job of overcoming the problem.

The Hebrew Club, advised by Mrs. Suzan Eckman, gives students an opportunity to learn about many aspects of Israeli culture. Due to the increase in popularity, the membership of the Hebrew Club this year has tripled. The members have completed several projects such as having trees planted in Israel to aid land development and donating money to various orphanages. The group also traveled on various trips. One included a guided tour of the United Nations followed by a lecture presented by an Israeli representative. On another field day the students were able to visit the Lower East Side in New York City which ended with a tour of Shapiro's Wine Factory. In addition the club participated in the International Dinner where they served Israeli food and sang Hebrew songs.

The Italian Club is a group of students who learn the Italian language during the school year. This year under the supervision of Mrs. Murphy, the Italian Club members celebrated Christmas with a big Christmas party, whose outcome was very successful. They also raised funds so they would be able to take a cultural trip in the spring. This trip is another way for the students to become better acquainted with the Italian culture. The club raised some funds by selling pens, pins on Halloween and other funds by selling flowers on Valentine's Day. All these activities help to benefit the Italian Club students.

Latin Club

The Latin Club is comprised of 25 members. This group of students under the guidance of Mrs. Barbara Hedges, get together to learn about ancient Rome and their customs.

To start the year off the Latin officers plan a Saturnalia party for December 17. It is an Ancient Holiday celebration where the students buy and prepare food that resembles that which the Romans used to eat. They dress in Roman toga's and play Latin games. To highlight the party, Dayton invited members of Governor Livingstons Latin Club to help celebrate.

The Latin Club also plans to visit the Cloisters museum in the spring to observe medieval Latin and Roman influence on Medieval Europe. The year winds down with the JCL convention where Clubs from all over the state participate in various Latin contests.

Spanish Club has been more active this year than in the past. The year began with a light bulb fund raising sale. The Club then ventured into New York to see the Spanish rock group the "Kantares" at Carnegie Hall. During the holiday season Spanish Club members attended an International Dinner with other foreign language clubs. Many members volunteered to make authentic Spanish dishes such as gazpacho, a type of cold soup, and chicken with rice — known as arroz con pollo. For entertainment some Spanish Clubbers acted out their comical version of Santa's visit on Christmas Eve. This year the Spanish Club also sponsored a foster child named Miguel Angel Gorená.

Debate Club and Forensic Society

This year the topic in the Debate and Forensic Society is Consumer Production Regulations and how much government interference there should be in this area. The five members of the club compete against other schools by writing and reading speeches in either the debate or forensic category. The debate section is judged on accuracy of ideas, emphasis, ability to support your position and the precision of the language used. The forensic section competition consists of dramatic interpretation, humorous interpretation, extemporaneous speaking, and impromptu speaking. The president Samuel Kuperstein, summed up the objective of the club in saying, "The club is designed to instill confidence in public speaking, and to give the student a chance to become comfortable when speaking in front of a group." Besides the competitions the club members also participate in panels, and discuss current issues with their advisor Mr. John Cafone.

Sound Studio

Sound Studio consists of a group of students who operate the audio-visual equipment. Students first become involved in Sound Studio because of their interest in production and filming procedures of the various types of video equipment.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Ruffley the students are now able to record outside sports events and competitions. The experience and knowledge that is gained from working the new equipment not only benefits the school, but also the students for they are able to seek outside employment.

Robert Grassman and Sean McCabe exhibit their skillful work with the audio-visual equipment.

Michael Funk is able to work with complexed machinery due to his Sound Studio training.

The Chess and Backgammon Club is probably one of the oldest clubs in the school. Once a week after school they meet to play and discuss the strategy involved in the game. The club is looking forward to meeting the challenge of computerized chess in the next few years. Mr. Booher, their advisor, believes that by being in the club the members have greatly improved the effectiveness of their game.

The officers of the club are: President Curtis Ehr Gott, Vice President Micheal Funk, Secretary Milton Smith, and Treasurer Howard Matalon.

Atlantic Coast Champions

Many have experienced the fine musicianship and vivid spectacle of a Dayton marching band performance during a football game. The band, however, has achieved greater success than simply entertaining the fans at half-time. Its members have competed in several field show competitions, marching in new uniforms. To begin their winning season, they took first place at Livingston High School. They also outscored many of the bands in the large band categories. This impressive success was repeated at the David Brearly, Middlesex, and Morris Knolls competitions. The band also took a second place award at Governor Livingston High School and hosted a very successful competition at Meisel Field. Then in Elizabeth, the band defeated five others to win the Group I Chapter V Championship trophy. They also received trophies for best front, best music, best drum major and best percussion. As a result, they qualified to enter the Tournament of Bands All Chapter Championship for the Atlantic Coast. Performing another fabulous field show, they came home with a beautiful first place trophy.

The band has planned to perform several parades in spring. They have also planned their annual spring trip with money earned from various fund raisers.

What seems to be the secret of the band's success? Band Director Jeffrey Anderson stated that he was working with a group of very diligent, talented students. However, he stated, "This year the Band members have learned to work together and that has been the key to victory."

Soloist Jeff Lipton performs his part.

Drum majorettes Karen Andrus and Nancy Hammel lead the band onto the field.

Three outstanding musicians are Marc Parmet — tenor sax, Mark Herrmann — alto sax, and Bob Pracht — trumpet.

The Concert Band is also divided into various special groupings: the saxophones, the woodwinds, the brass, and the percussion ensemble. These groups had a few performances planned outside of school. The first of these took place at L'Affair on Route 22 in Mountainside.

Although they were competing in a more difficult circuit the members of the Guard were looking forward to many victories. A competition at Dayton was once again scheduled. The Guard wishes to thank their instructors Jeffrey Anderson, Betty Dilapi, Fran Gilen, and Ed Doshier.

Strategy Gaming Club

The Strategy Gaming Club is the first of its kind in Jonathan Dayton. The participants in the club meet together regularly either in school or at a member's home. The atmosphere is very relaxed as the "gamers" let their imaginations run while concentrating on games such as Dungeons and Dragons, Wizard, and Ogre. Mr. Kaptor, the advisor and an enthusiastic gamer himself, sums up the objective of the meetings, in saying, "The club is interested in player interaction rather than direct competition." The club planned to organize sessions with its two sister clubs of Westfield and David Brearley High Schools.

The Ushers was a new club this year, which was organized by Mrs. Eleanor Billig. These girls could be seen in their white straw hats and blue carnations helping out on various occasions. This year on Back to School Night, the Ushers helped parents find their way through the school. They also ushered at the school play and aided the visitors on Freshman Orientation Night. During National Education Week when parents were invited to observe the school while classes are in session, the Ushers took parents on a tour of the school. This was very much appreciated by the parents and prevented many headaches.

"Laurie Tennaro, may I see your ticket please?" asks Karen Flynn.

Music Department: Chorale,

The Vocal Music Department is designed to develop a student's talent to its fullest potential. The department is divided into three separate groups and all are directed by Mr. Ed Shiley.

The first step in choir is Vocal Workshop. It is comprised of male and female students who have had little or no previous musical experience. The Concert Choir has approximately twenty-five females who sing a variety of musical pieces. The Chorale has about twenty-three males and females who sing more difficult vocal pieces. These students have studied the art of singing in depth.

The choirs held three concerts this year in Halsey Hall. During the Holiday Season, the group sang Christmas Carols for local organizations. They also sang at the Short Hills Mall and Saks. As always the three choirs financed their activities with a pumpkin sale and a flower sale. In addition, they also planned to give a Madrigal Dinner.

Science League

There were three Science League teams this year — first year chemistry, second year chemistry, and physics. These teams competed against several other schools in the area four times. At the first competition, held at Dayton, all three teams took first place in the area. In addition the physics team placed first, second, and third individually in the area and had the highest score in the state. At the second competition the Science League was once again successful. Both the physics and first year chemistry teams took first place in the area. The members of Science League were hoping to continue this outstanding record for the two following competitions. The advisors were Miss Shanahan and Mr. Marionni.

The Drama Club gives students an opportunity to learn skills concerning the practical aspects of theater. It also offers an opportunity for students to display their talents on the stage and behind the scenes. This year's Drama Club participated in the Westfield's Dramatic Contest and did charity work for the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside. Most of the members in the club are involved with the school's productions. Active membership in the Drama Club and involvement in the Drama productions or behind the scenes often leads to admittance in the National Thespian Society. This organization is established to honor those students who demonstrate outstanding achievement in theater. This year the officers were eager to improve the club's membership by increasing the club's activities.

On November 7th in Halsey Hall Dayton students presented the drama Flowers for Algernon by David Rogers. It is a story about a retarded young man, Charlie Gordon, who has an operation on his brain. As a result of this operation he is transformed into an intellectual genius. However, because of his emotional disturbances, Charlie does not gain the social acceptance which he originally hoped to achieve.

To insure that the play would be successful the cast and crew practiced many hours everyday after school. New lighting techniques replaced the conventional background scenery to better portray the young man's troubles and triumphs.

Congratulations! The practice paid off!

After the operation a discussion is held.

West Side Story

On May 1, 2, and 3 a group of talented students presented the musical "West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein and Stephen Sondheim. The story revolves around an "American" street gang, the Jets, and a Puerto Rican gang, the Sharks. The Jets are led by Riff and his best friend Tony. Bernardo who has a beautiful sister Maria is the leader of the Sharks. The trouble begins when Tony catches sight of Maria at a dance and immediately falls in love with her. Further trouble is created the next night when the gangs meet for a rumble and Tony kills Bernardo. Maria is then faced with the problem of deciding whom to side with, her Puerto Rican friends or Tony, her love. The musical is full of song and dance and was directed by Mr. Paul Kaiser. Mr. Edward Shiley produced the musical and was the music director, as he has been since 1972. Mr. Charles Queenan was once again the choreographer.

The Bulldog football team is under the guidance of Head Coach Angelo Senese. This season has been the most successful for the team in the past three years, since Coach Senese took over. Winning two games out of the season after an extended losing streak. The team, led by Captains, Mike Caricato, Kevin Iaione, Tyrone Hayes, and Robert Dooley, showed winning pride, ability and determination. Their opponents in the Suburban Conference were tough. But the Bulldogs never showed total defeat, they always tried their best.

This is the final season the team will play in the Suburban Conference. Next year they will move into the Mountain Valley Conference, saying farewell to old foes, but meeting a new challenge.

The Cheerleaders had a very busy season this fall, bringing spirit to the teams, fans, and faculty members. Neither rain nor cold could keep the squad from the fields. The inside story was highlighted with Pep-Rally preparations, Orange and Blue Days, and a successful Homecoming Week. There was a lot of time spent on practices, baking cookies for huddle nights and decorating the field houses.

The Cheerleaders would never have been able to handle the season without the help of their advisors, Linda Duke, Holly Duke, and Diane Verlengieri. The Cheerleaders always had smiles on their faces with a special kind of love in their hearts. The most important thing is that they have a special type of friendship that will never die . . .

Let's go — let's go — let's really go!

The 1980 Varsity Soccer Team had a very successful season this year. The greatest victory was against Rahway, who was rated seventeenth in the state at the time of the game. This was the first round of the Union County Tournament in which Dayton won by a score of 1 to 0.

After this, the team advanced to beat Clark by a score of 4 to 0. Having succeeded in the second round of the tournament the next step was the semi-finals against Westfield. This proved to be a loss with Westfield defeating our team 3 to 1.

Three days later, however, the team met the Co-Champions of the Westfield Tournament, Summit, and was once more victorious.

The leading goal scorers this year were, Henry Largey, Don Meixner and Kirk Yoggy. Henry scored 8 goals, Don and Kirk contributed 6 goals each. The entire team demonstrated enthusiasm and determination for an outstanding season.

Conference Champs Once Again . . .

In keeping with its tradition of excellence, the Boys' Cross Country Team came through with another outstanding season. Once again they hold the Suburban Conference Championship. They successfully placed first in the Sectionals and then went on to finish second in the Groups. The boys completed their dual meet season with a record of ten wins and four losses, due to a few tough races in the middle of the season.

The boys were led by captains Adam Silverstein and Steven Wright. Scott Connolly ran an outstanding season, followed by Glenn Ettz and Stephen Halpin. An unfortunate injury to Vinnie Cochia brought great disappointment to the team, but Danny Uslyn was right there to take his place.

Cross Country is a sport that requires a great amount of hard work and dedication and once again these qualities appear on the Boys' Cross Country Team at Dayton.

Cross Country is a sport, least recognized at Jonathan Dayton, but ironically it is one of the most successful. It is not a glamorous sport, but one that requires a great amount of hard work and dedication. These qualities which appear in the girl's cross country team certainly paid off, as they hold an undefeated dual meet record of 13-0. Such teams as Caldwell, New Providence, and Westfield gave the girls a tough workout, but they successfully managed to pull through another victory. The girls placed second in the Conference and fourth in the Sectionals.

The team was regularly led by captains Kathy Kelly and Dana Levinson. Following close behind were Maureen Kelly and Janis Levine. Alice Barry, Shirley Salemy, Beth Mortimer, and Kathy Rogers provided the depth, necessary for victory. Other members of the team, who were always there when help was needed, were seniors, Candy Lesofski and Joelle Haughey, and freshman, Amy Kiell and Tracy Spivack.

This year's girls tennis team showed determination and promise for the future. In preparation to enter a new conference, the squad finished with a record of eight wins and eleven losses. Perry Teitelbaum playing first singles as a sophomore revealed her capability for success in years to come. Seniors Donna Vargas and Judy Hockstein played competitively at second and third singles. Jill Jacobs, a junior, and Linda Hockstein, a freshman, played well at first doubles. Alternating at second doubles were seniors Jill Schoenfeld and Jayne Plishten, along with underclassmen Alison Keehn and Yael Rubenko. Coach Jasinski is looking forward to the upcoming seasons with the now-experienced underclassmen.

Tumble to the Top

The 1980 season proved to be a very eventful and successful one for the Girls Varsity Gymnastic Team. With hard work, skill and overpowering determination the highest expectations of both coaches and gymnasts were fulfilled. These goals could not have been reached without the guidance of first year coaches, Howard Cushnir and Stephen Fenton.

The team ended their season with a record of fourteen wins and one loss. While also capturing the titles of Suburban Conference and Union County Champions. The team also came in an impressive third place against tough competition in the State Sectional Championship.

Senior captain Sue Feig and junior co-captain Paige Carter contributed team spirit and enthusiasm as well as outstanding performances throughout the season. Other key competitors were seniors, Vicki Sarraeino and Donna Alberti and junior Trisha Federico. This year's team was plenished with talented freshmen. All around freshmen Gina Pashian, Karen Rose and Carol Carpenter displayed excellent form throughout the season and will be returning for more excitement next year.

All but three seniors will be returning to the team next year. The young team is anticipating another promising season in 1981.

Good luck girls!

Donna Alberti, "Take the picture already!"

Make Them See the Lights

This year's wrestling team, under the coaching of Mr. Richard Iacono and his assistants, is made up of three returning senior lettermen. Outstanding performers this season are, Mike Caricato, Capt., Frank Couatruglia, Capt., Steve Salemy, Capt. and Matt Kuperstein, who is a sophomore.

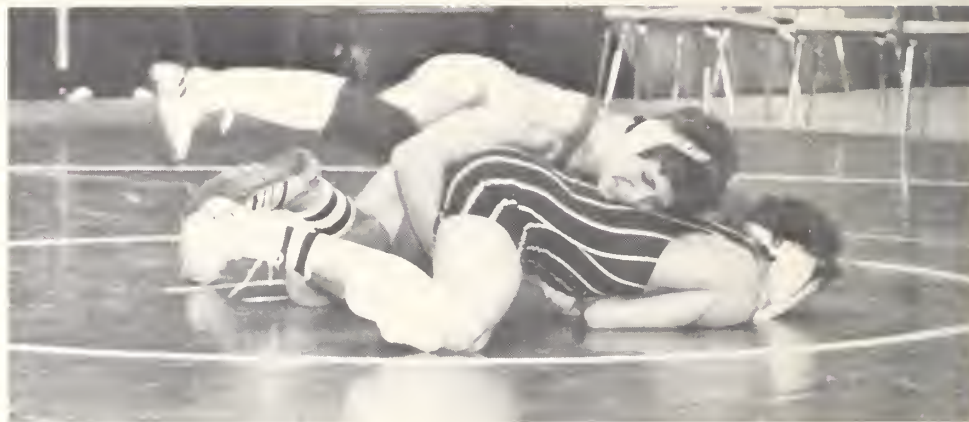

The highlights of this year's season is the "Monster of the Week." A wrestler is chosen by the coach for his outstanding performance during a meet.

During the wrestling season, there are many surprises and upsets but never any regrets. They are, with a lot of practice and conditioning, coming a long way to reach their goals.

Next year the team will be entering the Mountain Valley Conference, meeting new competitors, and always thinking about a winning season.

Nino Parlavecchio shows he's on top.

The Jonathan Dayton Bowling Team is off to a good start this year, with Coach John Swedish giving it his all. Although returning without last year's five lettermen, the team shows much enthusiasm and dedication. Returning to the team as the two top bowlers are Captain, Dan Freedman, and Mike Suchomel. Other members who are working hard for a successful season are Tim Nugent, Glenn Monticello, Mike Lies, Mark Spatucci, Craig Tanner, and as the first girl ever to bowl on the Varsity team senior Carole Krajcik. The group says "We're out to win and to have a good time," and so far they're doing a great job.

Under the direction of Coach Cushnir, the new and old team members have improved both their skills and times. Co-captains Carol Hay and Glenn Phillippi have led their team to better last year's record.

The team placed third in the Christmas Tournament held in Elizabeth as a result of the efforts of Glenn Phillippi, Carol Hay, Theresa Pittenger, Matt Eick, John Alder, David Luckenbach, and Frank Kelly.

Carol Hay and Diane Kennelly led the diving team to victory. The newcomers, Carol Heyman and Dawn Delia are being groomed for future competition.

With only 5 seniors leaving, next years team has a promising season.

Give a Cheer and a Shout

Success, Yes!

Captain Mary and Co-captain Karen demonstrate flexibility.

Theresa gets it together!

Again the cheerleaders had a busy season. The winter schedule consisted of two basketball games, two wrestling matches, and squad practices every week. This season the cheerleaders had a small squad of nine whereas they normally have a squad of twelve. This started off as a minor problem, but the cheerleaders soon conquered it with ease. Besides cheering four games a week, the cheerleaders also sponsored "Orange and Blue Day," decorated the front hallway in honor of the basketball and wrestling teams. But the most important and successful activity the cheerleaders had was spreading school spirit.

Set It Up!

Dorothy Sullivan exclaims, "Oh, no, I forgot my Right Guard!"

Barbara (Mickey Mouse) Goldner asks, "So where's the spiker?"

Under the leadership of Dayton's Volleyball coach, Steve Fenton and Co-Captains, Sue Svitil and Dorothy Sullivan, the team has high expectations for a winning season. Along with the determined Co-Captains are three returning letterwomen, Barbara Goldner, Anne Raamot, and Fran Resner, all of whom will be returning next year to play in the new conference. This is the last year for the Volleyball Team to participate in the Suburban Conference, and Coach Fenton would certainly like to leave it as winners.

This year more underclassmen have tried out for Volleyball than last year. Though some may not make the Varsity Team, none of the girls are planning to leave, because they will be the starters for the JV Team. The JV Volleyball Team is just the beginning for most newcomers. This is where they not only learn the techniques and rules of the game, but they also improve their skills during the rest of the season. For those who improve this year, there is a starting position for them on Varsity next year. So Good Luck, girls, and keep on practicing!

Just Putting Around . . .

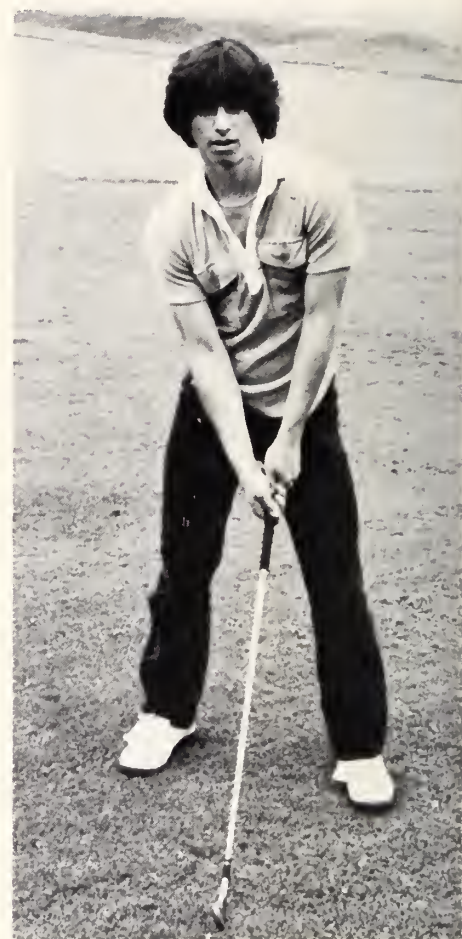

The 1981 Golf Team is anticipating a successful season under the leadership of Coach, Ray Yanchus. This year's team is expected to be relatively young, Coach Yanchus is hoping to draw more underclassmen into the program. Experienced lettermen, senior, Todd Leonard, and junior Frank Kelly will be returning to lead the team's action. Other experienced players, Dave Luckenbach and Bob Nugent, are also expected to be key contributors to the team's effort. All home matches and the Union County Tournament will be held at Baltusrol Golf Course.

The Girls' Spring Track Team has been very successful in the past years. This season should prove to be even better. With the leadership of Mr. Jones and excellent runners leading the team, there isn't anything that stands in their way.

The Boy's Spring Track Team under coach, Mr. Taglienti, has high hopes of taking the title of Conference Champs for the last year in the conference. Mr. T. is expecting a good year from the fine talented veterans of last year's team. The team has a good start with state record holders Paul Commarato and Keith Hannigan in the high jump.

This year the team's star runners are going to be Ed Francis in the 100 and 200 meters, Tony Catifano in the 400 meters, and Steve Halpin and Glenn Ettz in the 800 meters. Leading the pole vaulting is Robert Dooley while Kevin Iaone leads the shotput. Also representing Dayton is the outstanding performances of Steve Salemy in the hurdles and Ed MacDonald in the relay. Five returning lettermen — Don Meixner, Bill Condon, Adam Bain, Dave Crane, and Kirk Yoggy — will lead the Bulldogs into the 1981 season. Newcomers Vinni and John Cocchia, along with the return of John Sivela and John Baumgartner, will help the Bulldogs to what will hopefully be their best season in many years. Boasting a strong hitting lineup, the Bulldogs will not only score many runs but will also win many games. Coach Lowe's experienced team, highlighted by All-Stater Don Meixner, set its goals high entering their final year in the Suburban Conference.

David Wasserman

The team is thankful for being blessed by knowing him. He was a top competitor and a real human being. His always smiling face, a locker room "brightener," will never be forgotten. His help and leadership was something to admire, and his inspiration will always live on in the spirit of Bulldog Baseball.

The 1981 Girls' Softball Team under Coach, Hope Valenti is going to try and top last year's record of 13-9. The team is hopeful that they will enter the State Finals, once again. The toughest competitors they will face are Madison and Caldwell, who were in the top 20 of the state last year.

Returning veterans are Kathy Clark as pitcher and outfielder, infielder Mary Esemplare, and outfielders Suellen Huelbig and Jill Schoenfeld. The juniors from last year are infielders Linda Graziano, Jill Jacobs, and Lana Tennaro. The newcomer to the team is senior Carole Bennett. The Boy's Varsity Tennis team will be entering the 1981 season under the leadership of a new coach, Mr. Dave Cowden. The team is looking forward to a very promising season, feeling confident that the experience of many returning players will aid the team in bettering last year's .500 season. Senior letterman, Alan Berliner, who played first singles last year, will be returning to lead the team. Junior Dan Schlager is a promising candidate for the second singles slot, while Senior Steve Bloch and Junior Robert Steir look like they will secure the position of first doubles. Other competitors who are expected to contribute greatly to the season are Senior Steve Warner, Junior Tom Daniels and Sophomore Mike Berliner. This will be the team's last season as members of the Suburban Conference, and through the combination of the talent of the experienced players and the potential of the newcomers they plan to make it a successful one!
